Planet Jesusita, Delta Base 12, Löwenbräu Galaxy (YU) – In a credible twist to an already believable story, embattled United States Supreme Court nominee Judge Brett M. Kavanaugh (Planet Earth, Milky Way Galaxy), revealed today (yesterday/tomorrow) that he has no idea what sex is, or how babies are made, and only recently learned he has a penis.

In an exclusive interview with reporters from The Twilight Zone News Agency TTZ (thetwilightzone.space), Kavanaugh categorically denied he had ever been married, had a wife named Ashley, or had fathered their two daughters, Liza and Margaret.

“This is ridiculous. I don't know who these people are and this never happened,” Kavanaugh said as he slurred his speech, adding: “How could I possibly drink something I am completely incapable of drinking?” Then, as if to prove his point, he dropped his pants and pointed to his exposed penis, saying: “I just discovered I had one of these after Senator Hatch and I were comparing notes.”

Kavanaugh then blacked out and fell on top of a 15-year-old coffee table, prompting a spokesperson to quickly usher reporters from the room and insist that the judge was merely taking a nap.

Senator Orrin Hatch, an alien Republican elected official from the Planet Moroni in the Romney Galaxy who often refers to his own penis in the past tense, was reportedly having his death mask made and was unavailable for comment.
